The #1 Problem at Work, Home and Around the World Is What People Are NOT Telling You!

Leading expert on honest communication and building trust is available for comment, analysis and discussion of current events and major new stories

Washington D.C (July 2014)- "You can't fix a problem you don't know about, and you can't move on an idea no one tells you," says Steven Gaffney, top honest communication expert, published author, and dynamic motivational speaker.

Stories of dishonesty and controversy due to lack of communication are in the news daily. 'Mr. Honesty' knows most of it is due to not what people are saying, it's what they are not saying. Gaffney is available in person for on air television and radio appearances, or by phone, Skype and via satellite for out of town networks.

Gaffney is a recognized expert who has appeared on various television and radio stations for the past decade discussing the importance of open honest communication in the workplace and at home, and the consequences of withholding information. Open, honest communication is often the solution to controversy and the hidden costly problems that inhibit organizations' teamwork, collaboration, innovation and growth.

"The true backbone of our personal and national economy is the foundational value of trust...without it conflict and deterioration reign. Our business community suffers from a record low level of this core value. Once I heard Steven's message, I knew it was a powerful healing agent for both corporate America and every American family." -Zemira Z. Jones, former President of ABC Radio and Management Consultant

While Steven works with top leaders and chief executives from Fortune 500 companies, major government agencies, the US military, and national associations to increase their bottom line, his content is applicable and effective for all audiences.

Gaffney is a member of the Million Dollar Speaker Group at the National Speakers Association and has received the Certified Speaking Professionals™, a distinction honoring the top 10% of speakers in the world. He has authored five publications including, "Just Be Honest," "Honesty Works!," and "Honesty Sells," and has been speaking professionally for almost two decades. Hundreds of thousands of people have credited Gaffney's seminars, coaching, and consulting services as making an immediate and lasting impact in both their personal and professional lives. This is why the leaders of the top organizations in the world say 'Get me Gaffney!'
