In “No Soldier Left Behind,” the author brings to life an impressive hero both on the field of battle and off, offering a true inspiration into how to live a life. Highly recommended.

John J. Kelly, Detroit Free Press

John shares the hurdles he overcame in his childhood: his family's financial struggles, his father leaving when John was a teen, and his journey through education. Upon joining the ROTC in college, John learned to pilot helicopters, eventually leading to his deployment to Vietnam. In over 300 combat missions, John survived two helicopter crashes and transported multitudes of wounded soldiers from battlefields. After retiring from active duty, John returned to Michigan, where he picked up a job as a highly successful financier and investor.

Biography author Dr. Don Steele continues his impressive and valuable Legacy Series, placing before the public the achievements and impact of significant people with this survey and tribute to the life of John G. Kulhavi – honored military hero, successful entrepreneur, venture capitalist, and philanthropist.

Grady Harp, Amazon Top 100 Hall of Fame Reviewer

“John Kulhavi abides by this expressed commitment to leaving no soldier behind. He stays true to the military values of personal responsibility, duty, honor, and faith,” Author Don Steele says, emphasizing John's loyal nature. John shows a consistent commitment to his community, providing generous support to Central Michigan University and backing entrepreneurial ventures.

Talk about a full life lived with humble determination and integrity! Indeed, the arc of John G. Kulhavi's experiences are like several different people, but they are all just him. I am in awe.
