

L LINCOLN INSTITUTE OF LAND POLICY

The Lincoln Institute of Land Policy is a think tank based in Cambridge, Mass., that conducts research, evaluation and analysis, publishes books, a quarterly journal and documentary films, and holds conferences and seminars on the use, regulation, and taxation of land. Founded in 1974, the Lincoln Institute covers tax policy including tax limitations and the property tax; housing, community land trusts and the role of universities in urban development; land use planning and climate change, regional planning, smart growth, land conservation, property rights, and density; and international land policy, with a special emphasis on China and Latin America.
