A "How To" Guide For Preparedness & Self-Reliant Living

NEW REVISED EDITION

We wrote the book "Basic Preparedness" and now we have the DVD Series

The Survival Center now offers a DVD series to help you be prepared

It is obvious to many that some serious and life style-altering things are happening politically, economically, geologically and environmentally. How you prepare for these changes will determine your future well-being. Yes, it is about the future — yours. Are you ready?

It is our individual responsibility to get ready and be prepared to be on our own for extended periods of time. We have already seen that no group is standing by to come and "save" us. Look outside the box.

Since the early 1970s, Richard Mankamyer — "Uncle Richard" — author, preparedness trainer, general manager and regular talk show guest from The Survival Center, of McKenna, Washington, has been helping people prepare for most any emergency that may come their way.

"We have the knowledge and experience to help you prepare," Mankamyer says.

The Survival Center, America's Premier Preparedness Center, carries a complete selection of emergency supplies including survival kits, disaster preparedness supplies, MRE's, long term storage food, medical kits, water filters and underground shelters, to name a few. The Survival Center's Web site — www.SurvivalCenter.com — is a wealth of information and offers thousands of products to help you prepare.

Based on decades of experience, the Survival Center has written what has come to be recognized as the industry standard book, "Basic Preparedness," and has now produced a 6-hour (3-DVD) Home Study Course around the extensive subject of preparedness. Whether you are a beginner or expert, this Home Study Course has something for you.

As Mankamyer says, "Preparedness is a lot like insurance, you have to have it before the need arises."
